

Have A Group Pop-Up Wedding for $5,000!

2.24.2016

Don't have $50,000 (or more) to blow on a wedding? Here's a new alternative to an expensive wedding or eloping at city hall. For $5,000 you can have a pop-up wedding! The only catch is that it's a group wedding that you share with 9 other couples. But like group sex, it's something you might want to try once in your life, and who knows—it could be fun!

PopBliss has introduced “the FIRST Luxury group Pop-up Wedding Celebration” in New York City. 10 couples will be chosen for according to the organizers “one majorly Instagram-worthy event.”

“In true pop-up style, the wedding planners say “the location, décor, food and all other details are wonderful, whimsical and unique – surprising the couples with the best wedding money can buy without the hefty price tag. Taking place this March 30-31, up to 10 totally unconventional, ridiculously cool and radically different couples will embark on the first ever group pop-up wedding taking place at a secret location in New York City. A destination wedding, couples will enjoy the lavishness of a celebrity wedding with their very own bridal brunch, welcome party and live-streamed wedding attended by 300 guests and reaching 2,000 people.”

Couples don't have to worry about a thing; the venue, the hair & makeup, the decor, the cake...They just have to worry about whether they really want to marry the person.

The pop-up wedding alternative is marketed to alternative millennials, and curated by Atlanta wedding planner Racquel Kristi.
